Join Over 600 Graduates of the LCD Practicum

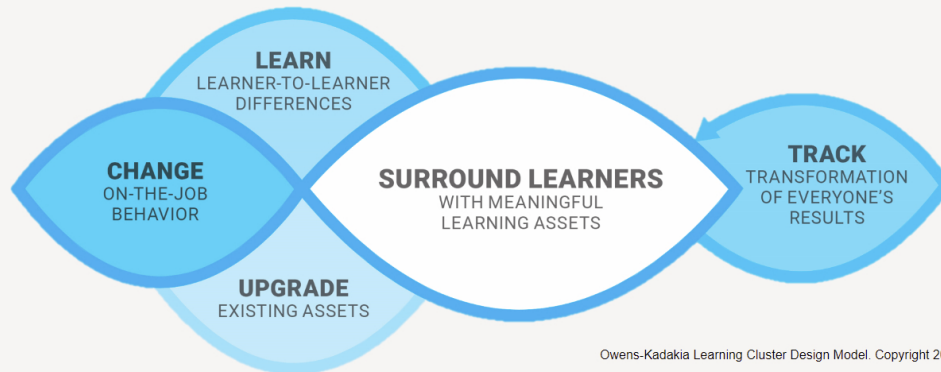

Made for those that want to make a real modern learning impact. A practicum by definition implies a practical experience, guided by an expert. Moving beyond the book, we build your capability to design learning for your customers across the flow of work, while giving you a tangible deliverable by the end: a learning cluster for an active work project you have on your plate.

What if you had meaningful learning resources across the flow of work for employees and customers for every capability gap?

The Owens-Kadokia Learning Cluster Design Model

We upskill professionals in the model and consult on projects to bring modern learning to life. Through five Actions and four Principles, you will transform the perception and impact of training into learning meant for a digital age.

We often talk about how to get a seat at the table or how to start delivering something different when the organization is just expecting training or how to get learners engaged in a different way. These are all about changing what the organization expects from L&D - shifting the expectations from what you've always [...]
