The Maestro of mQube's Sonic Universe

I'm Ronak, the heartbeat behind mQube. What started as a childhood fascination with beats has grown into a full-blown symphony of projects that span movies, corporate gigs, and international collaborations. At mQube, we're all about creating stories that stand out and stick with you, whether it's through a movie score or an innovative media project for a global NGO. I invite you to dive into a world where music & media meets magic, powered by creativity and technology.

My musical journey is a tapestry woven with diverse projects, from setting the sonic stage for movies like Shikaar, Shikaar 2, and Stranger on Whatsapp, to crafting the quirky vibes of PagalPanti and the poignant scores of Telescope and Lakkad Ke Laddu. Each project has been a unique note in my career, teaching me the power of music to evoke emotions and tell stories. Beyond the big screen, my work with NGOs and corporate clients like Wake Up to Dream and Success Viking has allowed me to use music as a tool for change and empowerment, culminating in an inspiring project for the Uppsala Monitoring Centre under the WHO

The Pulse of mQube

At mQube, my role extends far beyond just notes and beats. As the founder, I'm the composer of our vision, setting the tempo for our projects and ensuring that we're always in harmony with our clients' needs. From overseeing the melody of management to the rhythm of our financial strategies, every day is a new chance to orchestrate success. Whether it's directing a music video, producing a documentary, or crafting the perfect score for a feature film, I'm there, baton in hand, ready to lead my team to their next standing ovation.

staying grounded, exploring new technologies but keeping the soul in music, and pushing boundaries while cherishing the journey. It's these qualities that help me lead mQube and connect with our team and clients on a deeper level. Whether you're a fellow music lover, a tech geek, or just someone with a story to tell, I'm here to make sure we create something unforgettable together. Let's make some noise and light up the world with our creativity.

With each note we play and every story we tell, we invite you to join us on this extraordinary journey at mQube. Let's make the world listen.
