PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

I'm a website developer and designer who genuinely enjoys turning ideas into functional, visually engaging digital experiences. Over time, I've built numerous websites for businesses and individuals across different needs, from landing pages to fully structured business platforms.

I don't just focus on how a website looks; I care deeply about how it performs, how users move through it, and how effectively it communicates a brand's message. For me, a website is not just design, it's strategy, structure, and experience working together.

CORE SKILLS

- Website Development & Frontend Implementation

WORK APPROACH

I begin every project by understanding the goal behind it, the audience, the purpose, and the expected outcome. From there, I design intentionally and build with structure.

I take ownership of my work and treat every project as a reflection of my professionalism. I value collaboration, feedback, and delivering results that both look impressive and function reliably.

PORTFOLIO

I have built a wide range of websites, and my portfolio is available for review. I would be happy to share selected projects that align with your company's needs.

The full portfolio and video presentation are available. I sent them in a separate file.
